

Dear my beloved Grandparents

Every breath I breathe your name calls in howling wind. It is amazing here and there are the most beautiful light here. Also there is a most beautiful Angel and when you gaze up you will be amazed by all the beautiful colors. They will brighten up London and it will be nice and bright. We will make lovely memories will keep on going and going and will never end.

Why don't you come over? It's much more fun so why don't you come over to us instead of staying in the same hot country.

My heart wants you to come, so come. I feel like you are a bit lonely. So why don't you come have a turkey roast dinner with us. It will be so much fun together.

In Florida it is too hot for Snow and you don't get the lights or decorations that we do. Most importantly we are not in Florida.

I love you so much please come home.

Emily
