

Mia wore up in the tireless she could be.

When she looked up she saw a bunch of shadows covering the whole dark room making it look like she had light switches.

Then she took one step after another going outside to find a massive coconut-tree there. She saw something massive above it so she climbed up. When she got up she saw a beautiful cash. Around the cash was neon jens and blueish white diamonds. It was amazing.

After a while she told herself "if this is all outside what's inside?" Step by step she got inside and she saw one thing that she needed... to get a golden hen. When she got closer she could smell the giant she thought there was a meat smell there. But she looked up and saw the giant. Thinking what to do she released she had a sack and put the hen in her sack. Surprising the hen spoke calling for help that's when the giant woke up and he said "EE EE EE I SMELL THE BLOOD OF AN ENGLISH MAN!"
