

One day, heavy, strong rain fell from the clouds on to a huge village. The rain was pouring on to a tiny village with one wooden house. Dragons broke into the houses and killed all of the innocent people with their fierce breath. The one who killed all the dragons was the dragon slayer called Tarragon, who had a sharp, pointy sword he used to kill fierce dragons. In the other hand he had a shield to protect himself. His armour was very dusty and he had a helmet with two horns to protect his head. He's always very angry at dragons. He's very really strong so he can kill any dragons.

He's very scary so dragons will be a little bit scared. Tarragon has a little square chin.