

This has been the oddest / strangest week ever! Strange and crazy week I've had on Tuesday 12th January, I woke up to school as I normally do, but this ordinary day was changing. Scattered all around the class were many items covered in an odd, glossy material. Strangely and as I was curious and decided to touch it very gently - we investigated the classroom in more detail and to my surprise, we found: our English work, covered a chair and pen and a book with mysterious writing inside. The aliens have made a huge mess outside!

Later, we were lucky enough to obtain CCTV footage of the incident. It happened just inside the quad! Interestingly, we noticed outside work for ourselves. I wonder how much, what will be there.

To our surprise, we saw shiny, odd, smooth material scattered around as well as this, I found strange, frozen, purple liquid and sports equipment covered up. After we finished our search, we discussed our findings in class.

What actually happened?

What might happen next?

In order to find out more about we decided to re-watch the footage. In the video, the aliens appeared all at once, coming through a black hole as it blasted into our quad. It was with flashing light and lots of steam.
