

Crime report

In the afternoon, in the middle of the Green Acres forest, there stood the Three Bears little cottage. Unexpectedly, a troubled little girl broke into the Three Bears house. In passing, the Blonde culprit broke into the cottage. As she came in she saw three bowls of uneaten porridge this trouble-maker, mischievously tried all three and ate all of baby bear's porridge.

Furthermore, there have been damaged items found, in the living room, there stood a very expensive Elizabethan chair found broken. If you would go upstairs there were three beds, without taking her shoes off she went and stepped on every bed and now all three beds have dirt, dog mess and mud. At the scene of the crime there was blonde hair on the pillows and pieces of fabric on the chair.

Just outside the house were child sized footprints and finger-prints on the spoon as the porridge. Surprisingly we found what this trouble-maker's name is... Goldilocks.
