

In a certain Kingdom, in a certain land, in a little village, there lived a stalker of the night (Grendel). An enemy from Hell, A sworn enemy of God and human kind. A demon, terror and a blood, thirsty, monster who will kill anyone to quench his thirst. Grendel, he was called, a beast of the night, who would eat your organs, while you're still alive! He is a creature from Hell, born of evil and shame, who ended up in this universe to reach his goal of chaos. Anyone, who sees him, will not survive, because if you look too deep in his eyes you will see a flame from Hell and if you do your soul will belong to him, and him only.

- Happiness, was banished and Grendel started his murderous life. Grendel leaped into the chamber of the Heorot and woke everyone from their sleep. Everyone was alarmed...

- On the first night, he teased the villagers gets out viciously and waited in the darkness for another victim to play his dirty game! With no mercy, he would suck the blood out of a baby until it was unpleasantly lifeless. As a smile appeared on his face, poisonous drool trailed down his cheek onto the floor.