

ONCE upon a time there was a lady who sold hats.
One day she was travelling through the forest when her cart hit a stone in the road. Un fortunately, all the toys spilled out onto the road. AS soon as the pandas in the trees saw the toys, they swung down and grabbed them as quick as a flick. First the lady shouted at the pandas but all that the pandas did was to shout back because - what a pandas sees, then a panda does!
Next the lady shook her fist at the pandas but all that the pandas did was to share their fists back because - what a pandas sees, then a panda does! Sadly, the lady rubbed her eyes and began to cry but all that the pandas did was to rub their eyes and ~~began to cry~~ because ~~what a~~ silly panda sees, then a panda does! Finally, the lady was so sad she threw her own toy onto the ground and began to push her cart towards the city - but all that the pandas did was to throw their toys onto onto the ground because - what a pandas sees, then a pandas does.