

Athens vs Sparta

Introduction

In Ancient Greece the country was made from lots and lots of tiny states. The most known states in ancient Greece is Athens and Sparta. In this huge discussion, we will compare how these two states live and their differences.

How they were governed?

Many years ago, states were treated differently to today. In Athens, they strongly believed in justice and democracy of choice. However the king of Sparta didn't believe of giving civilians the choice, instead they governed the country by the monarch.

Life for boys

During ancient Greece, life for boys in Athens and Sparta were different in many ways. In Athens the state of wisdom, they highly valued education and pretty therefore, the boys were encouraged to attend school.